6. Take action on the following resolutions:

Mayor Giles clarified that items 6-d, 6-f, and 6-g will be one general discussion with separate votes.

Chief Financial Officer Michael Kennington displayed a Power Point presentation. (See Attachment 1) He commented that on item 6-d, the 2019 Utility Systems Revenue Bonds issuance and sale of $112 million is for utility funding. He clarified that the funding authorization was voter approved and funding will be spent on the projects listed. (See Page 1 of Attachment 1)

Mr. Kennington reported that items 6-f and 6-g are Bond Refundings that relate to bonds currently outstanding and reflect staff's proposed recommendation for Council to authorize the issuance and sale of refunding bonds to a lower interest rate. He added that the City will save approximately $12 million. He noted that the closing date for the bonds is at the end of May, 2019 in order to refund the bonds at the end of July, 2019 and actualize the savings for the Fiscal Year (FY) 2018/19 budget. (See Page 2 of Attachment 1)

Mayor Giles thanked staff for the presentation.

Vice Mayor Freeman commented that he does not want to delay any of the voter approved bonds.

Mayor Giles remarked that item 6-d is to fund the Greenfield Wastewater Reclamation Plant Expansion which is an existing construction project, and it would be disruptive to halt in the middle of the project which would result in significant additional costs. He noted that for items 6-f and 6-g that the bonds are existing, being refinanced to a better rate, and saving the City approximately $12 million. He added that he cannot understand why the City would not refinance.

Councilmember Whittaker remarked that he agrees with refinancing or creating bonds when necessary, however, stated the opinion that the issue is budgetary and the City is not allocating enough operating revenues into a reserve fund in order for the City to limit the amount of bonds issued.

- 6-d. Authorizing the issuance and sale of Utility Systems Revenue Bonds, Series 2019A, not to exceed $112,000,000. (Citywide) – Resolution No. 11297.

Good afternoon/evening,

My name is Bruce Durst. I'm a resident in District 5 and live at 8136 E Dutchman Dr Mesa 85208. I live in Fountain of The Sun, a 55+ retirement community.

I'm here to ask the COM to adopt a NO BIRD Feeding ordinance similar to the City of Tempe which prohibits the feeding of wild birds, and the City of Phoenix that are putting a NO PIGEON feeding ordinance together as I speak.

Specifically. Pigeons and Doves. Doves land Pigeons are scientifically the same bird. Pigeons are also referred to as "Flying Rats" for a good reason.

Their excrement causes health risks to our younger and older citizens.

Those who feed these birds cause a Nuisance to neighbors, their excrement also causes property damage by defecating on roof tops, patios, lawn furniture, cars, sidewalk, driveways..

Bird seed falling on the ground attracts rodents causing more health risks and another nuisance.

Their excrement on shingles can cause them to deteriorate 20% sooner than their normal life expectancy.

Pigeons/Doves defecate 40-50 times per day per bird.

Do the math

Pigeons/Doves defecate 40-50 times per day per bird. Do the math.

"Pigeons normally breed two or three times a year, producing two eggs per brood. Overfed city pigeons can breed up to 8 times a year. Do the math.

They breed year around in our warm climate. Only causing a compounding problem year over year. It needs to stop. Let's join our neighboring cities in putting an end to wild bird feeding and clean up our city and communities.

Let's not be the only safe harbor where pigeons/doves know they will find food provided by Mesa citizens.

They should not be feed but forced to survive on what nature intended them to feed on. Insects.. or seeds they find in nature.

You can see on page 3.1 & 3.2 the health risk, property damage, and nuisance can cause.

Page 5.1 is an article about feeding pigeons in the City of Phoenix.. and on page 5.3, the highlighted last paragraph shows that they will vote on the final ordinance later this year.

Page 6.1 shows the Tempe Ordinance which requires a petition signed by at least 3 witnesses in separate households. I don't like the requirements of having 3 households because I feel this sets neighbors against neighbors and could cause disharmony between neighbors. If you have an Ordinance against feeding wild birds, Pigeons/Doves especially the fact that a neighbor is feeding them should be enough to enforce the Ordinance without causing neighbor discontent.

So I hope the Mesa Ordinance makes feeding wild birds illegal PERIOD....!!

Page 7.2 shows what I had to do which cost me time and money to prevent pigeons from roosting/nesting on 2 new ceiling fans I installed on my patio.

You can read the other information in this packet at your leisure..

Feeding wild animals.

FOSHA OFFICE

"There is an Arizona state law that prohibits feeding wildlife in counties with over 280,000 residents. ... "People often feed wildlife because they think they are helping the animal.

Among other things, this makes it illegal to hunt, possess, or transport the birds.

The only birds that are not protected in Arizona are rock doves (pigeons), English sparrows, and European starlings.

NUISANCE CREATED BY PIGEONS

Large groups of pigeons can be a nuisance. They can even spread disease. It's easy to think that there are rules in place to keep pigeons protected since there are so many of them around.

Imagine sitting on your front porch when you start looking around and notice bird droppings on your home and your vehicle. In addition to looking unappealing and potentially smelling, it can cause real damage. If left on surfaces, the acidic nature of the waste can deteriorate your paint.

Cleaning your home or vehicle is only taking care of the surface problem. If you're unable to scare the birds away permanently, it may be time to call a professional to put measures into place to deter the pigeons.

Pigeons are often considered "flying rats." Some of the diseases their droppings can carry include:

- E. coli – symptoms include nausea, fever, and cramps
- Encephalitis – symptoms include drowsiness, headache, and fever
- Histoplasmosis – symptoms include decreased respiratory function
- Salmonellosis – symptoms include fever, chills, abdominal discomfort, and flulike symptoms

Pigeons can even carry mites and fleas. It is important to thoroughly wash your hands after removing bird droppings. Avoid touching a pigeon, whether it's living or dead.

I think this states my case 100%.... So now I expect this problem to be resolved post haste...

Thank you for the fast response.

The address of the worst violation is 541 80th Street, Mesa 85208. We are located in Fountain of the Sun retirement community. I have a few other addresses but if we, including the FOS HOA, can resolve this one address I think we can resolve all the violators who are causing a nuisance, health hazard, and property damage caused by the pigeons excrement. The picture says it all... and this is about half of the normal flock. They also roost on the front and sides of the house.

Pigeons Overview

A case for putting an end to the pigeon problem at FOS..

DO NOT FEED WILD ANIMALS AND BIRDS

In order to resolve the problem you must first understand why the birds are there. There are two completely separate problems associated with pigeons; the first type of problem is daytime perching where pigeons are using a building as a vantage point to exploit a food source.

The birds are using your property as a vantage point to exploit a food source.

So now you will hopefully have a better idea of why the pigeons are on your property. related issues are concerned or where pigeons are being deliberately fed within sight of a building that is experiencing problems.

If the pigeons are being fed within sight of your building, you need to be aware that if you install pigeon deterrents then pigeons may be displaced and start to use the tiles of the roof for perching.

The main problem is that gutters, hoppers and downpipes can become blocked with guano and nesting materials. Depending on the scale of the problem it may be necessary to clear gutters every 3 to 6 months or even more regularly where entrenched problems are concerned.

In this case, and particularly if you have identified the person or people who are feeding, a call to your council may be the most productive step in the first instance.

Again, a call to the Environmental Health Department of your council may resolve this problem. In any instance where deliberate feeding of pigeons by the public is the source of the problem then your local council should be contacted.

It may be that your council will respond by saying that they do not provide pigeon control services, but be aware that councils do have a legal obligation to deal with a statutory nuisance or any health and safety-related issue. The council may not provide conventional pigeon deterrent control services, but they do have an obligation to act if an individual or company is causing a nuisance or health risk by feeding pigeons or by allowing waste to be exploited by pigeons. A health and safety risk can be something as simple as pigeon excrement on the pavement that has the potential to cause a slip hazard.

If your building is in a suburban residential area then the source of the problem is likely to be a neighbor feeding wild birds in their back garden. In many cases this problem can be resolved by speaking directly to your neighbor and explaining to them that they are causing a problem by attracting pigeons to their garden as a result of the food they provide for smaller garden birds. Inevitably, if one householder feeds wild birds in their garden, and if pigeons are attracted by this food, the pigeons will perch on a neighboring property whilst waiting for the food. It is also quite likely that your neighbor has no idea that they are causing you problems, particularly if they are out at work all day. It is only in extreme and entrenched circumstances that you will need to seek advice and assistance from your council in order resolve an issue of this nature.

Overnight Roosting and Breeding Problems

The best means of estimating how many pigeons you have roosting on your property, and more importantly where they are roosting, is to survey the building after dark once the birds have returned to their roosts. Walk all the way around the building with a good flashlight and look at the entire property in as much detail as is possible. Pigeons are commonly found on exposed pipework, windowsills and architectural features, but will rarely be found on exposed roof areas or on guttering after dark. This is because pigeons will always look for a roost that provides some degree of protection from the elements, even if it is only the overhang of a gutter or soffit. If the survey of the building confirms that you have a significant number of pigeons roosting on external features then, prior to installing pigeon deterrents, it may be wise to inform your neighbor.

Evidence during the day if no breeding is taking place at the time of the survey. Bear in mind that feral pigeons breed all year round and therefore nests with baby birds may be present at any time, winter or summer.

One of the most common problems is how to protect TV aerials to avoid soiling to patios, conservatories, block-paved drives, doorsteps, decking, etc., where soiling problems can, in some cases, be extreme. TV aerials offer wild birds an ideal perching facility, particularly when overlooking domestic gardens, and are often used as a vantage point to exploit food from bird tables in neighboring gardens. Large piles of guano can build up rapidly, with slippage problems on wet excrement being extremely common – many parents with young children often have concerns when their children are playing in the garden unsupervised.

This inflammation of the nervous system is dangerous to all age groups, but can be particularly dangerous and even fatal in adults over 60 years old. Symptoms include drowsiness, headache and fever.

Histoplasmosis. This respiratory disease occurs as a result of a fungus growing in pigeon droppings and can be fatal.

Histoplasmosis is a respiratory disease that may be fatal. It results from a fungus growing in dried bird droppings. Candidiasis is a yeast or fungus infection spread by pigeons. ... The illness often begins as a pulmonary disease and may later affect the central nervous system.

histoplasmosis, this variety can affect nearly any part of your body, including your mouth, liver, central nervous system, skin and adrenal glands. If untreated, disseminated histoplasmosis is usually fatal.

Bird fancier's lung (BFL), also called bird-breeder's lung and pigeon-breeder's lung, is a type of hypersensitivity pneumonitis (HP). It is triggered by exposure to avian proteins present in the dry dust of the droppings and sometimes in the feathers of a variety of birds.

Pigeon droppings may pose a health hazard to the general public. Pigeons have been associated with a variety of diseases, including histoplasmosis and cryptococcosis. Histoplasmosis is a disease caused by a fungus that grows in pigeon droppings. ... When exposure is high, the fungus can cause infection.

Pigeons and doves are closely related. There are about 300 species of birds in the Columbidae group. ... In fact the word "pigeon" and "dove" are pretty interchangeable. The pigeons that are referred to as "flying rats" are descendants of wild rock doves that were domesticated and then escaped back into the wild.

Pigeons often cause significant pollution with their droppings, though there is little evidence of them driving out other bird species. Pigeons are labeled an invasive species in North America by the USDA.

Exposure to dust from the pigeon loft can cause heterogeneity of diseases such as asthma, ornithosis, (microbial infections of birds which can be transferred to human beings), lung inflammation from inhaling irritant dusts. Allergic proteins are found in bird droppings and feather blooms.

This health and property nuisance is causing neighbors to spend time and money on pigeon abatement and mitigation. I believe this cost should be passed along to Pigeons will perch on buildings whilst waiting for food to be provided and this can cause soiling problems for property owners. Interestingly, it is common for pigeons to roost on the property either side of the garden in which the food is being provided and this can, in some cases, cause friction between neighbors. In more extreme cases this friction can develop into minor wars between neighbors. therefore always wise to be extremely aware of what species you are attracting by providing food and whether the birds that do visit your garden are causing problems for your neighbors.

Also be aware that controlling pigeons once they have established a feeding pattern can be difficult if not impossible, particularly where the problem has become entrenched.

Once feral pigeons have identified your garden as a daily feeding site their numbers will grow daily and it is not unusual to have between 100 and 200 birds visiting a domestic garden each day if the food supply is not restricted.

Pigeons will exploit just about any food type. Once pigeons have established a feeding pattern and broker your garden into their daily feeding rounds they may even start to look at your property, and indeed those of your neighbors, as a possible roosting and breeding site.

This is when the problems become entrenched with neighbors demanding that you stop pigeons feeding in your garden. Pigeons are never more comfortable than when they are roosting and breeding on a residential property and particularly one that offers both bed and breakfast!

Once you have become aware that pigeons are exploiting food provided for smaller birds you should stop all feeding immediately. This cessation of feeding need not continue indefinitely but it is critical to stop feeding before the problem becomes entrenched.

Once a daily feeding pattern has been established is not only difficult but also can be highly distressing for both the property owner concerned and for their neighbors.

The health risks of a pigeon infestation.

Birds, including pigeons, are perfect disease carriers, as they travel long distances. They can harbor dozens of different parasites and infectious diseases. ... A respiratory disease known as histoplasmosis can develop when the fungus is inhaled.

Are Pigeons harmful

those causing the nuisance. If this is not controlled it could result in legal action against the people causing the problem and FOS for their continued NO-ACTION policy. I have complained for over 10 years and still nothing has been done..

WE ALL HAVE THE RIGHT TO LIVE IN PEACE AND HARMONY.

Feeding wild animals, birds, causes a nuisance and health risk. Wild animals, Pigeons, were here before us and will be here after we leave. They are survivors and DO NOT need our assistance to provide food for them. Feeding them actually causes them to be dependable on humans. This is not what nature intended. Feeding wild animals does them more harm than good.

I've been living at FOS for over 10 years and was told something is being done about the problem 10 years ago.. 10 years later I'm being told the same BS..

whoever is addressing this issue isn't doing their job and perhaps should be replaced with someone who actually addresses the problem ??

Phoenix Ordinance making pigeon feeding illegal later this year
March 30, 2019 at 1:09 PM

Feeding pigeons isn't illegal in Phoenix. Should it be?

After a Phoenix resident shared nightmarish photos of a roof in her neighborhood covered in pigeons, the Phoenix City Council is considering a new law prohibiting the feeding of wild pigeons.

Right now, the city only regulates the keeping of pigeons — not the feeding of them. But Phoenix may follow Tempe's lead and pass an ordinance that bans the feeding of wild birds.

In large numbers, pigeons can carry diseases. Their waste is acidic and can damage paint on vehicles, and they give off an unpleasant odor.

"Once you have them, it's very difficult to get rid of pigeons," Mayor Ielda Williams said.

Tempe recently banned feeding

Last summer, Tempe added the feeding of wild birds as a "nuisance" crime.

A Phoenix City Council subcommittee asked staff to move forward with drafting a similar ordinance last week.

"I don't want to stop people from feeding wild birds. But that's obnoxious and I certainly wouldn't want that on a daily basis," Williams said at the meeting, referring to the resident's photo.

Williams said she's spoken with the woman, who believes the pigeon problem in her neighborhood is the result of a neighbor feeding the birds.

Williams said the woman told her she has pigeon droppings all over her house and yard every day.

"I think it is a health concern besides being a nuisance," Williams said.

How would the ordinance work?

The proposed ordinance would deem the feeding of wild birds a nuisance. The city would enforce the ordinance if it receives signed complaints from three separate households.

"(The requirement of three complaints) would reduce the possibility of neighbors using this as a harassment tool against one another," Neighborhood Services Director Spencer Self said at the subcommittee meeting.

A city spokeswoman said the penalties for feeding wild birds will likely be the same as the city's penalties for other nuisance violations: a minimum fine of $150 with a cap of $2,500. A violator can be charged either civilly or criminally.

Self said since enacting the ordinance over the summer, Tempe has received a number of complaints but hasn't had to penalize anyone yet.

"They've been able to effectively educate resident and have them stop feeding wild birds just through that," he said.

City staff is preparing a draft ordinance, which will be presented to the public. The council is expected to vote on a final ordinance later this year.

THE CITY OF TEMPE REQUIRES STATEMENTS FROM
AT LEAST 3 NEIGHBORS.

IN SOME CASES LIKE MINE I WOULD/MAY BE ABLE TO GET ONLY 2 STATEMENTS. MINE AND THE RENTAL HOUSE. THE OTHER NEIGHBOR IS HERE FOR ONLY A FEW MONTHS PER YEAR.

SO I WOULD LIKE THE MESA ORDINANCE REQUIRING STATEMENTS/COMPLAINTS FROM ONLY 2 NEIGHBORS.
BETTER YET NO COMPLAINTS - JUST MAKE IT ILLEGAL.
